SIYUM HASHAS:
COMPLETION OF THE STUDY OF TALMUD
~ A CELEBRATION ~
THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 2012 • 7:00PM

The practice of reading both sides of one page of the TALMUD each day is called DAF YOMI. There are 2711 DAPIM, which would take one approximately 7-1/2 years to get through the entire TALMUD.

Since March 2, 2005, Rabbi Robert Eisen has been doing just that and will conclude his study at this event.

In celebration of this remarkable accomplishment, Rabbi Eisen invites you to join him as he closes the cover on the last volume of the TALMUD ... at least for now!

He will also tell the story of how and why he decided to undertake this endeavor, and what it has meant to him over the years; followed by keynote speaker Rabbi Arthur Lavinsky presenting "The Form and Function of The Talmud." Rabbi Lavinsky is the spiritual leader of Beth El Congregation in Phoenix and possesses a degree in Talmud. Rabbi Eisen will then lead a discussion on the last portion of the text itself, followed by a special prayer and Kaddish marking the significance of the occasion.
