The Life and Comedy of Allan Sherman

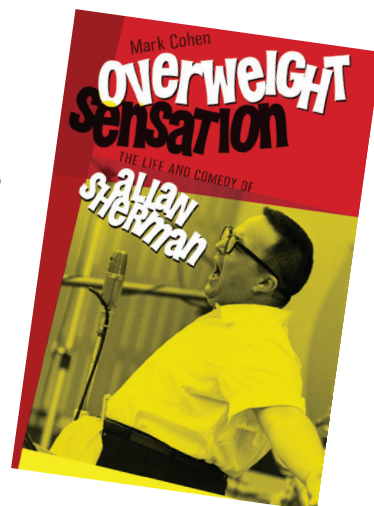

Sunday, Oct. 20, 4:00pm • Cantor Falkow Lounge

Dr. Lee Chutkow will discuss the man behind the parodies, his music (recordings will be played), and the biography of Allan Sherman, "Overweight Sensation."

Sherman was an American comedy writer and TV producer who became famous as a song parodist in the early 1960s. His biggest hit single was "Hello Muddah, Hello Fadduh," a comic novelty in which a boy describes his summer camp experiences.

He was manic, a bacchanalian, and a hugely creative artist who sold three million albums in just 12 months, yet died in obscurity a decade later at the age of 49.
